"I delayed the inventory"

At the post of Avoyelles, the tenth day of the month of August of the year one thousand seven hundred ninety-three—before me, Louis Grisey, interim commandant of the said post, and in persuance of my orders, at eight o'clock in the morning were assembled at my house Sieurs Jacques Gagnard, sub-lieutenant of the militia, Pierre Ducoté, Joseph Mayeux, and François Bordelon, sergeants of the militia, all being prominent residents of the said post, in order to be present at the opening of the greffe, which was done by me as commandant, after having shown them the seals of Sieur Julien Poydras, formerly special judge at the said post, and having found, in the presence of the aforesaid named, the papers pell-mell and without order, and having searched for the inventory of the said papers in order to be able to put them in order, none could be found, neither any notes-of-hand nor bills remitted by several residents to Monsieur Apereto who gave them no receipts, and the said witnesses having pointed out to me that the making of their indigo does not permit them to remain for the inventory of the papers that comprise the said greffe, without exposing themselves to some real losses, I delayed the inventory until I could make a more thorough examination than is now possible. With this in mind, I have drawn up the present process-verbal to be used when needed, and in order that it may be effective, the abovementioned witnesses have signed with me, the commandant, to which I give testimony. [Signed:] Jacques Gagnard, jh mayeux, pierre ducotes, fcs. Bordelon, Louis Grisey
