"The object of the Organization shall be to promote historical study and research in the field of American history and to do all things necessary and proper to accomplish this purpose."

Constitution of the Organization of American Historians, Article II

Membership in the OAH is your way of actively supporting this simple, straightforward goal . . . to promote historical study and research in American history. As a member of the OAH you'll receive either the Journal of American History, the leading publication in the field, or the Magazine of History, our publication especially for members in the primary/secondary teacher category.

You'll also receive the OAH Newsletter, with articles, commentary, professional opportunity ads, fellowship announcements, and other valuable information about the organization and the profession, plus a copy of our Annual Meeting Program containing a complete list of the sessions planned for the OAH convention.

Arranging and Describing Archives and Manuscripts

by Fredric M. Miller

This is the first of seven volumes published from the Archival Fundamentals Series. This manual follows the continuum of activities designed to provide administrative, physical, and intellectual control over archives and historical manuscripts. At its core are the three basic activities of accessioning, arrangement, and description. The manual is designed to be especially helpful to the novice archivist coming to the profession either through educational programs or the assignment of new archival responsibilities. Many sample forms included.

Published by the Society of American Archivists (1990)

Annual Index

Volume 53 (1990)

ANNA MOODY, Compiler

This index contains entries for authors, article titles, titles and authors of books contained in the "Reviews" department, reviewers, SAA fellows and award recipients, and obituary names. Subject entries have been confined mostly to broad topics covered by an article, with most of the subjects derived from the article's abstract. Proper names of individuals, institutions, and places are similarly confined to those that receive extended coverage. Names appearing in "about the author" sketches and footnotes are not indexed. Entries for SAA reports and council minutes all appear under the "Society of American Archivists" heading. Works by multiple authors are listed only under the first author, with "see" references from additional authors. Reviews and listings of published (mostly repository-level) finding aids are grouped under "Guides."
